THE PHS STORY

Peter Horobin completed his saddle apprenticeship at one of the oldest saddleries in Germany. After returning to Australia in 1980, Peter and his wife Julie started Peter Horobin Saddlery which is located in a picturesque coastal town of Melbourne's Mornington Peninsula.

Peter started his equine career as a jockey in Germany following the footsteps of his father Keith, who was also a jockey. Peter eventually became too tall to ride as a jockey reaching over 6ft in height, so that's when he turned his attention to saddle making.

Peter has since established himself as one of Australia's finest saddler's operating in business for over 35 years, growing a very large and loyal customer base in Australia. Initially making saddles for the dressage and show jumping industry, Peter then expanded his range to include race saddles.

Over the years, Peter spent much time researching and educating himself on equine biomechanics and the impact saddle tree designs have on the horses' wellbeing and performance. It was through his discoveries that he developed his revolutionary StrideFree® tree.

First made for his race saddles where the focus was on complete shoulder rotation, stride length and equine back health, the success of the StrideFree® racing tree prompted Peter to bring the StrideFree® tree design into his equestrian range of saddles.

The concept of the StrideFree® tree has been impressing equestrians all around the world in all disciplines which include racing, dressage, show jumping and eventing. This global demand for Peter Horobin saddles has influenced exports to the USA, Mexico, Canada, UK, Europe, Japan, South Africa and New Zealand. Testimonials are all singing the same praise about how much freer and stronger their horse moves when under a StrideFree® saddle.

From sketching initial design concepts to sourcing A-Grade European eco-friendly tanned leather. Panels flocked with wool sourced from sustainable farms throughout Australia, New Zealand and Europe, and finishing touches that include welting and stitching colours, quality brass fittings and beautiful head nails. Our saddles are carefully crafted with precision, passion, quality and care.

Now a second generation family business with Peter and Julie's children also a part of the family business, Peter Horobin Saddlery continues to go from strength to strength in growing the PHS and StrideFree® brand throughout the world. This includes our expanding team of International representatives and their own growing team of PHS Certified Saddle Fitters.

Peter Horobin Saddlery pride themselves in operating their business with family values at the core whilst continually evolving with the latest research and technology to improve their products and service and ultimately the wellbeing of the horse.

Equine back health is where our saddle designs start. Our four legged friends shouldn't need to be restricted in movement as we ride. We invite you to trial our range of saddles to join the StrideFree® movement.

Ride in Peter Horobin saddles.

THE STRIDEFREE® TREE

Saddle trees haven't changed much in design for hundreds of years. Traditional saddle tree points are generally long and sharp that may dig into the horses' shoulder, forcing limited shoulder rotation and pinching the trapezius muscle. This may cause pain to the horse, a possible hollowing of the back, which may affect the horses' performance, behaviour and potential long term damage.

Made from a strong and flexible synthetic composite that moves and flexes with the horses' movements, the StrideFree® tree has rounded corners where traditional tree points may lie, allowing complete freedom in the shoulder area. The tree also has an adjustable gullet to suit the changing shape of the horse.

ADJUSTABLE ON SITE

Our saddles are designed to be adjusted on site by a qualified PHS Saddle Fitter. Whether adjusting a gullet or flocking the panels, there is no need to send your saddle away for an adjustment unless repairs are required. We also offer an online remote saddle fitting service if you live in an area a PHS saddle fitter cannot get to.

SADDLE FITTERS, NOT SALES PEOPLE

All our PHS certified saddle fitters are horse people. They have lived a life of horsemanship and therefore passionate about their craft. We train our saddle fitters to confidently educate our customers about biomechanics, saddle fit and the StrideFree® difference.

WOOL-FLOCKED PANELS

Wool is a natural, breathable and sustainable product that moulds to the horses' shape and movements. The wool can be easily removed from the panels or more wool can be packed into the panels to create the right fit for you and your horse.

ADJUSTABLE GULLET

All our saddles have an adjustable gullet that can be easily adjusted onsite with a gullet machine. We've designed our saddles to fit the ever changing shape of the horse. Our saddles can also be readjusted to go from one horse to another horse.

SHORTER PANELS FOR SHORT-BACKED HORSES

Our panels have a shorter option for the short-backed horse to ensure the saddle doesn't sit past the last rib of the horse.

GIRTH POINT ALIGNMENT

Our saddles have various options in girth positioning to suit various shapes of horses and saddle positioning. When playing around with the girth alignment options, we can get the saddle sitting correctly on your horse and to suit your riding position.

The StrideFree® Elite rider is stylish and chic. When this rider gets on their horse, they together paint the perfect picture.

100% NATURAL LEATHER

Peter Horobin saddles are made from high quality hides that are ethically tanned from award-winning tanneries throughout Europe, that use environmentally friendly and modern production infrastructure in accordance with high quality standards.

Leather is a natural product. It breathes and ages and has unique individual characteristics. Leather tells a story. It will often display telltale signs of the animals past life. The hide may show scars, veins, branding marks, differing fibre density, wrinkles and stretch marks. This is what gives leather its charm. Leather is soft and will respond to bumps, rubbing and scratches. These marks and imperfections are not product defects and in no way detracts from the quality and wear of the leather.

Clean and nourish your saddle often with our PHS Leather Care products, to ensure longevity and protection from the elements and embrace the beauty of imperfection that is 100% natural leather.
